

Julie McCormack
Community Liaison

“

I only recently started working in the construction industry within the last 3 years, and my learning has been a mixture of learning on the job and lots of training courses.

Within my role, I enjoy learning about and getting to know the different communities where projects are based.

”